Daily Good

Mind Your Own Baby

Use your kid to ward off unsolicited parenting advice.

The Reality:

Sick of people telling you how to raise your kid? Sick of getting asked why you're still breastfeeding? Sick of folks touching your baby without your permission? Sic your kid on 'em.

We Recommend:

Gabbybaby Tee Shirts. These cheeky little tees let your kid do the talking when it comes to unsolicited advice. Straightforward phrases like "please resist the urge to give advice, my parents are doing a great job" and "please don't touch my hands I put them in my mouth" tell it like it is and might even make nosy strangers think twice before opening their mouths. You're on your own when it comes to your mother-in-law.
